HW Ventilation is thrilled to announce its participation as an exhibitor at the renowned AHR Expo 2026, taking place from February 2 to 4 at the Las Vegas Convention Center in Las Vegas, Nevada. Recognized as the leading event for HVACR professionals worldwide, AHR Expo is a key platform for innovation, networking, and business growth.

This participation marks another significant milestone for HW Ventilation, following the successful establishment of our U.S. subsidiary, HW Ventilation North America—a clear reflection of our commitment to serving the American market with state-of-the-art air-moving solutions.

You'll find HW Ventilation at Booth SL2624, where our team will be ready to present our latest products and services, share insights, and showcase innovations designed for HVACR applications. We look forward to demonstrating how our high-efficiency axial impellers and fans, together with our AMCA 210 testing services, can enhance performance and energy efficiency across diverse industrial and commercial environments.

We warmly invite all attendees to visit Booth SL2624 to discover our products, learn more about our capabilities, and meet the passionate team behind HW Ventilation's continued growth.
